

Thermal machines and the Industrial Revolution

The steam engine

Has

A FIRE BOX, IN WHICH FUEL IS BURNED OUTSIDE OF THE MACHINE

is used today

IN THERMAL POWER STATIONS, WHICH PRODUCE ELECTRICITY, WITH THE INNOVATION OF A SYSTEM IN WHICH HIGH-PRESSURE GASES MOVE THE BLADES OF A TURBINE

